

Professional statement

MD Sakib Islam

I am a cybersecurity analyst having a solid background in all eight domains of CISSP, security framework, controls, and compliance, which I have attained from the Google Cybersecurity Professional course. It is the fusion of analytical problem-solving and securing what really matters – the assets, the information, and most importantly the people behind those assets that motivate me. I provide accuracy, integrity, and passion for risk-oriented thinking in every single task I perform, and I am currently looking for chances where I can be of help to frameworks, risk analysis, and security postures.
